

THE ALLIANCE 8.7 KNOWLEDGE PLATFORM OFFERING EFFECTIVE MEASURES TO ACHIEVE TARGET 8.7

With Target 8.7 of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), 193 countries pledged their commitment to take effective measures to eradicate forced labour, modern slavery and human trafficking by 2030, and child labour by 2025.

BUT WHAT ARE EFFECTIVE MEASURES? WHAT WORKS TO ADDRESS THESE PROBLEMS?

To answer these questions, the United Nations University Centre for Policy Research created Delta 8.7 – an innovative project that helps policy actors understand and use evidence to adopt policy responses that will contribute to achieving Target 8.7.

It brings together the most useful data, evidence, research, analysis and news through Delta87.org, an online knowledge platform, and offline events.

DELTA 8.7 HAS FOUR AREAS:

Data Dashboards: Interactive visualizations to compare data on the global, regional and national level.

Forum: Short articles by recognized experts on data and evidence.

Policy Areas: Overviews of policy issues and how they relate to Target 8.7.

Learning Opportunities: Directory of online and offline learning resources.

WHAT DOES DELTA MEAN?

The Greek letter delta [Δ] is used in mathematics and science to signify the amount of change in a particular variable.

WHAT IS 8.7?

This is SDG Target 8.7

WHAT DO THEY MEAN TOGETHER?

DELTA + 8.7 = Measuring the change towards Target 8.7.
