

UNITED NATIONS
UNIVERSITY

UNU-EHS

Institute for Environment
and Human Security

Public Panel Discussion

From Urban Development to Adaptation, Resilience and Transformation: The Opportunities and Risks of Conceptual Fashions for Implementing the 2030 Agenda

Thursday, 04 May 2017, 17:30 - 18:45 pm

Panelists

Prof. David Simon

Director, Mistra Urban Futures, Gothenburg & Professor, Royal Holloway, London

Prof. John Handmer

RMIT University, Melbourne, & Director, Bushfire and Natural Hazards CRC, Melbourne

Dr. Koko Warner (tbc.)

Head, Impacts, Vulnerabilities and Risks Subprogramme, UNFCCC, Bonn

Prof. Jakob Rhyner

Vice-Rector, UNU & Director, UNU-EHS, Bonn

Introduction and Moderation

Dr. Matthias Garschagen

Head of Vulnerability Assessment, Risk Management and Adaptive Planning, UNU-EHS, Bonn

Venue

United Nations University – Institute for Environment and Human Security (UNU-EHS)

UN Campus

Platz der Vereinten Nationen 1

“Langer Eugen”

Room 2105

Registration

Participants need to register with Ms. Catharina Nickel under nickel@ehs.unu.edu by 03 May 2017 COB. Participants are required to bring a photo ID for security clearance at the UN Campus.