

Religion, Identity and Human Security

by Giorgio Shani

The UNU Library is hosting a library talk of the book Religion, Identity and Human Security by Giorgio Shani (Routledge, 2014). This book seeks to demonstrate that a major source of human insecurity comes from the failure of states around the world to recognize the increasing cultural diversity of their populations which has resulted from globalization. This book begins by setting out the theoretical foundations, dealing with the transformative effects of globalization on identity, violence and security.

Speaker:

Giorgio Shani is Professor of Politics and International Relations at International Christian University (Japan).

Moderator:

Sukehiro Hasegawa is Director for Academic Exchange and Cooperation at the United Nations Association of Japan.
