

Symposium

Integrating Sustainability into the Post-2015 Development Agenda

featuring a keynote speech by Jeffrey Sachs

While the international community is accelerating its efforts to achieve the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) by 2015, the discussion on the post-2015 development agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) is gathering momentum. We are now at a critical standpoint to address the integration of sustainability into the formulation and implementation of the post-2015 development agenda.

This symposium will feature a keynote speech by Prof. Jeffrey Sachs drawing on lessons learned from the MDGs to explore international debates and trends related to the post-2015 agenda. A panel discussion by experts in this field and an interactive session will follow the keynote speech.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Jeffrey Sachs Earth Institute, Columbia University

PANELLISTS

Mitsugi Endo Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, The University of Tokyo

Ryutaro Yatsu Ministry of the Environment, Japan

Surendra Shrestha UNEP International Environmental Technology Centre

Norichika Kanie UNU Institute for the Advanced Study of Sustainability; Tokyo Institute of Technology

2 October 2014 (THU)

14:00–16:40

VENUE

U Thant International Conference Hall,
United Nations University

ORGANIZERS

UNU-IAS and Millennium
Promise Japan (MPJ)

SUPPORTER

Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA)

