Call for Papers and Posters

Human Security Conference, 22 -23 May 2013, Accra, Ghana

—The Quest for Human Security: Knowledge and Experiences from Ghana and across the Globe—

The four-year Human Security Programme (HSP), entitled “Enhancing Human Security through Developing Local Capacity for Holistic Community-Based Conflict Prevention in Northern Ghana”, has been jointly implemented by six UN agencies, namely UNDP, UNICEF, WFP, FAO, UNIDO and UNU-INRA, in close collaboration with the Government of Ghana and other key stakeholders. The programme sought to empower local institutions, communities and individuals to manage and prevent conflict in Northern Ghana as a means to ensuring sustainable human security in the area. The programme supported the following interrelated five-prong interventions: 1) Local capacity development, 2) Conflict prevention mechanisms, 3) Income generation/ job creation, 4) Food, health and nutrition security, and 5) Mainstreaming and advocating the human security concept. The HSP has supported 19 communities in the four (4) programme areas, i.e., Bawku Municipality in the Upper East Region, Wa Municipality in the Upper West Region, Tamale Metropolis and Yendi Municipality in the Northern Region, with funding from the Government of Japan through the UN Trust Fund for Human Security (UNTFHS).

The programme, which was launched in 2009, will be ending in May 2013 and will organize an international conference on 22-23 May 2013 — as part of activities to mark the official closing of the programme and to provide a platform for exchanging innovative ideas, promoting networking and forging collaboration among a wide range of stakeholders. This human security conference is calling for papers and posters from researchers, practitioners, policy makers or any other interested individuals to share knowledge and experiences in human security. This two-day conference is a momentous event focusing on evolving concept, approaches, and practices addressing the challenges associated with human security. It will feature programme stakeholders (including UN agencies, beneficiaries, local and national institutions), keynote speakers, researchers, practitioners and policy makers from Africa as well as other parts of the world.

Specific objectives of the conference:

- To share the human security concept, approaches and practices applied in the HSP and progress/ changes made in programme areas with a wide range of stakeholders
- To facilitate mutual learning between HSP stakeholders (incl. UN agencies, beneficiaries, local and national institutions) and other non-programme stakeholders (incl. researchers, practitioners and policy makers)
- To disseminate key knowledge from the learning process

Proposed Conference Themes

- 1. Human Security and Capacity Development: Capacity is considered critical for enhancing human security at the national and local levels. Human security hybrid to combine Protection (top-down approaches) and Empowerment (bottom-up approaches) is one of approaches to strengthening national and local mechanisms for promoting human security and ownership. Organizational capacity at both national level (incl. legislative capacity) and local level (incl. ability for local level organizations to advocate human security, to demand and promote protection) can also be further explored. How does capacity at national or local level affect human security? How can capacity be strengthened? How can national and local ownerships be forged?
- 2. Poverty-Conflict Nexus: In general, conflicts tend to result in a substantial loss of human capital, property and development opportunities; such situations leave conflict sensitive areas out from a developing economy. It is also often reported that various poverty dimensions —such as high level of youth unemployment, long non-farming dry season during which farmers tend to be idle and unproductive, food insecurity and malnutrition, arms production as a lucrative venture, and income disparity— are closely linked with conflict. What kinds of linkages have been observed? Can poverty reduction lower risks of conflict and vice versa? How can both dimensions be put into practical programming?
- 3. Human Security and Natural Resources Management: Human security and natural resources management is an emerging dimension which is critical to peace and development in Africa. Major examples include land tenure issues, access to productive land for agriculture, inequity in distribution of benefits from natural resources and management of natural resources. Knowledge and experiences in how to promote human security and natural resources management thus need to be shared and discussed. How can human security be enhanced without compromising the sustainability of natural resources?
- 4. Human Security in Practice: Experiences and Lessons Learnt: There are various elements encompassed within the human security concept, e.g., freedom from fear (peace), freedom from want (development), life with dignity (human rights); prevention-oriented; context-specific; multi-sectoral; protection and empowerment framework. Various human security initiatives are increasingly implemented in various parts of Africa and other parts of the world; and such human security concept has been applied in one way or the other. What experiences have you had in human security initiatives? What lessons have you learnt? How can the human security concept better serve political, developmental and/or security agenda? The theme provides a platform for stakeholders in Africa or beyond to share practical experiences and lessons through human security projects as well as applied research.

The conference is focused on Africa; however, contributions that address relevant human security experiences from other parts of the globe are welcome. In addition to formal papers, we are very interested to hear from policy and decision makers, donors, researchers, NGOs and community representatives who have knowledge and experiences for enhancing meaningful mutual learning.

Those who would like to make a presentation (oral or poster) are expected to submit relevant write-ups (abstract, full paper, PowerPoint presentation file and/or poster) depending on their preferred mode of presentation. There are three possible ways of presentation:

- 1) Oral presentation with full paper submission;
- 2) Oral presentation during the conference (but without full paper submission); or
- 3) Poster presentation.

The deadline for submitting abstracts (maximum of 300 words, for both oral and poster presentations) has been extended to: Tuesday, 30 April 2013. Abstracts will be subjected to review by a Scientific Steering Committee. The submission deadline for each knowledge product can be found in the tables below and more detailed guidelines for each are available in the Appendixes.
