About UN University

For the past four decades, UNU has been a go-to think tank for impartial research on the pressing global problems of human survival, conflict prevention, development, and welfare. With more than 400 researchers in 13 countries, UNU’s work spans the full breadth of the 17 SDGs, generating policy-relevant knowledge to effect positive global change. UNU maintains more than 200 collaborations with UN agencies and leading universities and research institutions across the globe.

United Nations University Institute for the Advanced Study of Sustainability (UNU-IAS):

UNU-IAS is a UNU institute based at UNU Headquarters in Tokyo. The mission of UNU-IAS is to serve the international community through policy relevant research and capacity development focused on sustainability, including its social, economic and environmental dimensions. UNU-IAS builds on a strong tradition of UNU research and capacity development in Japan, undertaken in collaboration with a global network of professionals and scholars, particularly in Africa and Asia. Urban Sustainability in Africa (USIA):

For the achievement of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), various stakeholders of all nations including developed countries and developing countries are required to contribute to the higher level of well-being and sustainability of nature and society as an ultimate common goal. Although there are various goals in the SDGs, their goals are mutually interrelated. In that respect, academic institutions are expected to propose mechanisms to avoid trade-off among SDGs and to create synergies through interlinkage analysis across SDGs. Based on the interlinkages analysis such as synergy and trade-off across SDGs, the aim of this policy research project is to propose policy recommendations on international cooperation model, scheme and solution in order to implement the SDG 9 (Build resilient infrastructure, promote inclusive and sustainable industrialization and foster innovation) and SDG 11 (Make cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable) in Sub-Saharan Africa.

Responsibilities:

Under the overall guidance of the Director of UNU Institute for the Advanced Study of Sustainability (UNU-IAS) and under the direct guidance and supervision of the Academic Programme Officer, the Research Assistant will carry out the following tasks:

- support UNU-IAS research and other activities through collecting, inputting, and analyzing data of Urban Sustainability in Africa (USiA) project
- conduct research and other activities on the topic of sustainability science
- support in organizing workshops, seminars, symposiums and other events related to the aforementioned projects
- assist the UNU-IAS Postgraduate Programme in preparing post-graduate educational modules, and engage in teaching and capacity development work
- Perform other duties as may be assigned

Required Qualifications and Experience:

- a Ph.D. degree or equivalent in the field of Environmental Science, Environmental Engineering, Rural and Agricultural Planning or a related field
- sound record of or potential for publication of the above-mentioned research areas with a focus on policy and practice
- demonstrated ability to coordinate and conduct policy-relevant research on sustainability assessments and governance for sustainable development in an interdisciplinary approach
- skills to conduct field survey, including interviews with local people in Africa
- computer and web literacy required. Strong IT skills would be an asset
- experience in management of research programmes is an asset
- teaching experience is desirable
- excellent writing and communication skills in English; knowledge of other United Nations official languages is an asset
- a good team player with strong interpersonal skills demonstrated by the ability to work in a multicultural, multi-ethnic environment with sensitivity and respect for diversity

Remuneration:

Remuneration will commensurate with qualification and experience. There are no other fringe benefits.

Duration of Contract:

The successful candidate shall work under an Individual Contract (CIC) with UNU-IAS. The appointment will be until 30 June 2018. No individual shall provide services for more than nine (9) months in a twelve (12) month period.

This is a locally recruited post; no relocation expenses or allowances apply. The successful candidate will be employed under a local contract and will not hold international civil servant status nor be a “staff member” as defined in the United Nations Staff Rules and Regulations. UNU does not sponsor a working visa for this position.
Starting Date: Late April / early May 2018 (Negotiable)
